SCREWARY FISH.

WASHINGTON, October 17.—It was stated last May, when the rumors of Secretary Fish's contemplated, retrument were so frequent; that he had determined to go out on the first of November, and it is learned at one time he thought of resigning at that date on account of reasons entirely personal than the property of th owner on the bond of the Hon. Benjamin F. Buller and the Hon. W. E. Chandler, that she should not violate the neutrality. On ner last seizure Buller was at once apprised of the fact. He left Lowell, where the news reached him, immediately for Washington, and the result of the visit was the arrival here of Attorney General Akerman on Saturday morning, and the release of the Hornet on the afternoon of the same day.

There was an unusual movement among officials to-day that indicated that quite a number of appendments were to be made of high and low degree.

Secretary Boutwell and Commissioner Delano were for some time in consultation with the Freyadent, after which the greatent that it was selided that Mr. Delano would be made Secretary of the Interior before the middle of November. Hayram, Oct. 16.—Cardenas also suffered much from the burricane on Filday. The lower part of the city was laid waste. The interior of the takend back of Cardenas and Matanzas is desolated. The cane being comewhat beckward this season suntaina less damage than other crops. The burricans was the severest which has visited this island within a century. The following is a list of the total wrecks at Matanzas: Brig Barter, of New York; bark Hunt, of Portland; schooner Edwin, of Bridgeport: The following vessels are damaged: Schooner Palermo of Bath, and bark Mary. There was a great loss to cooparing and stock in warefoliuses on the low ground at Matanzas, which were all destroyed. The influx of the sea caused a great rise in the rivers. When the sea receded everything was swept away by the returning flood.

Was it Treason?

"It is a common error," says HALLAM, writing of constructive and other treasons, "to condound the terms 'insurrection' and 'rebellion,' and thence to draw interences which are tenable neither in civil law nor in sound public policy." The historian of the English Constitution, hed under a monarchical system, and to a certain extent influenced by the traditions that yearners about and color the most liberal researches of the seeker after legal and political truth in Europe, was too enlightened a commentator, and a man too just and independent, to go the lengths of the old feedal definition of treason—a definition indiscriminate and bloody, the product of the necessities of king-crait. But the world, which had moved before, has moved since HALLAM wrote, and an equally canneview. If come per line for each interconvertisement for less than 80 conts.

the doctrine of divine right, the doctrine of d since Hallah wrote, and an equally candid and fearless thinker, formed under the trachings of a school still more advanced and rational, might, and we dare say would and will, carry forward the idea suggested above, and assert that there is, in fact, no such crime as teason recognised by the polity of modern civilization, particularly as applied to free government and practiced under republican forms, that nothing is a crime which does not curry with it personal dishonor or penalty; that the direct result of war is failure, and the material losses incident thereto not inamy; that the prosecution and punishment of one generation of unsuccessful warriors will not deter the next from similar attempts, but rather set them on; that there is a higher obligation owed by government to the consolidation and peace of seciety than to the vengetal spirit or the technical exactions of obsolete laws; and that sound public policy, the impulses of a human nature made gentler and more just by culture, and the interests of that liberal and genial spirit on which free institutions repose, requires most of all internal peace and popular contenuent, which are in themselves the surest guarantee of the public safety, and that, in order to obtain them, every possible sacrifice should be made by those keepers of the power of the State, who have no longer anything to lear from the beaten party. This princuple, at variance with the entire letter and miention of unrepealed statutes that exist in all countries, has come, by an almost universal usage, to be the common practice of civilized na-

Medicine Known-The Reasons of its finpersority over Other Chill Remedics.
This preparation contains no quintee or aranic, for any delectrion substance whatever,
all who have but chill and fover, and have taken quintee, calonel or arcente (which are the gracely in the providents of most of the medicines now in use), are aware that the medicines often leave the system in an unbesity condition, makprincipal ingredients of most of the medicines provise uses, are sware that the medicines often leave the system in an unhealty condition, making its more difficult to relieve it of their effects than of the original disease. Wintersmith's Improved Child Cure leaves the system in a perfectly healthy condition, with no bad effects in any way to be worn of, Unlike chill rounded generally, it requires no purgative to be taken with it, the medicine itself acting reasily and agreeably upon the liver and bowels, effectually removing the cause of the disease, not merely temporarily checking it. Herein consists its great superpriority over all other chill preparations. The cure is a permanent one; the shift will not return periodically, as is the case when broken by quintine and other medicines. Read the two certificates below:
